

EDITOR'S NOTE: I'm still working on an abbreviated schedule this week, so the idle chatter will be kept to a minimum.

But with that said.....

WILDCATS KICK SOME CHEESEHEAD ASS!!!

Yes, although it was little revenge for losing the FFL Championship and the total point race (by 8 points) for last year, the Wildcats rebounded and made Cheese Whiz out of the Cheeseheads, handing Wisconsin it's first loss since October 18, 1994.

GAME SUMMARIES:

PENNSYLVANIA 73, WISCONSIN 59

All eight starters scored for the Wildcats, who after a perplexing and embarrassing loss to Richmond in Week 1, have now won 2 straight. QB Jim Everett led the Wildcat charge, with 23 points. Barry Sanders added 17 and Marshall Faulk added 12. The Cheeseheads were led by, as usual, the 1-2 punch of Emmitt Smith and Steve Young, who scored 26 and 22 points respectively this week.

BUTLER 69, LOS ANGELES 33

After a disappointing 0-3 start, the Blowfish came to life with a vengeance in Week 3. Lucky 14 was with the Butler squad, as 4 Blowfish scored 14 points: QB Jeff Blake, RB Craig Heyward, WR Brett Perriman and K Morten Anderson. WR Eric Metcalf threw in 11 for good measure. The Riot! was led by RB Ricky Watters, who scored 11 points, and K Jason Elam, who chipped in 8.

NEW YORK 52, MERCER 43

The Griffons remain one of only 2 undefeated teams in the league, thanks in large part to rookie Denver RB Terrell Davis, who had 22 points on the weekend. WR Carl Pickens chipped in 11 points, as 7 of 8 starters scored for the Griffons. The Mustangs were led by QB Boomer Esiason, who had 16 points. Four other Mustang players scored 5 points each.

RICHMOND 50, CAROLINA 46

Stop the presses. I don't think we're in Kansas anymore! The Richmond Rattlin' Raptors are undefeated. That's 3 wins, NO losses. Seven of 8 starters scored for Richmond, led by QB John Elway with 16, WR Michael Irvin with 11 and RB Garrison Hearst with 8. Carolina was led by RB Chris Warren with 14, WR Terence Mathis with 13 and K Pete Stoyanovich with 10. QB Trent Dilfer tied the all-time record low score for a QB with -4.

DALLAS 42, STATE COLLEGE 35

The Armadillos are right up there with the Raptors for the most-improved team in the league... and had Dallas played anyone but the Cheeseheads in Week 1, they could very well be undefeated. All-world WR Jerry Rice led Dallas with 17 points. K John Carney added 9 and RB Bernie Parmalee scored 6. State College was led by RB Harvey Williams, who scored 14 points, and rookie Derrick Loville, who added 8. WRs Andre Rison and Anthony Miller posted goose again this week, as the once-might Bandit receiving corps is off to a very disappointing start in 1995.

MIAMI 36, PITTSBURGH 33

If it were not for the home field advantage, the Pittsburgh Pachyderms record would be 0-1-2. Yes, for the second consecutive week, the home field advantage prevented the Pachyderms from salvaging a tie. Miami was paced by QB Troy Aikman and RBs Jerome Bettis and Natrone Means, who all posted 8 points on the weekend. WR Darnay Scott led the Pachyderms, with 11 points, while QB Brett Favre added 8.

TRANSACTIONS:

After kickoff Week 3 (current until Tuesday evening):

----Carolina dropped James Stewart, RB, Vikings; added John Kasay, K, Panthers.

----Carolina dropped Johnny Mitchell, TE, Jets; added Tim McGee, TE, Bengals

REMEMBER:

ALL TRANSACTIONS are now based on worst record/low points from kickoff each week until Tuesday nights at 9 p.m.

DEADBEAT REPORT:

Big Carolina Bang and State College Bandits are the only two teams who have NOT PAID their league fees yet this year. Pay up, boys!

The Big Bang is also in negative money for their transaction deposit. Funny, but Banger doesn't strike me as the pro bono type...

WEEK 4 GAME OF THE WEEK:

New York Griffons vs. Big Carolina Bang

The Griffons are on a roll and the Big Bang is bound to explode for big points any week. This could be a shootout with both teams scoring in the 50-60 point range.

You'll notice I've decided to try to use periods between the columns in the standings in hopes of keeping the columns somewhat in line. Let me know if this works better than my previous attempts at columns.

Later,
Ying
